Our trained and certified clean room supervisors and technicians are familiar with many different types of Standard Operating Procedures and go through a customized training process for each individual Clean Room.

Filtered high speed buffers and Hepa-Vacuums are used to control and eliminate the flow of dust in these environments as well as the entire facility. Specialized cleaning materials, chemicals and sanitized cleaning apparatus are used to keep particular counts under control.

Boston Cleaning Company services many Bio-Science Companies and would like to show you our complete system for an entire Bio-Science facility.
